

Tyra-Johnson

On August 14th 2004 we were proud parents of our baby girl Tyra she was such a blessing brought into our family and her brothers and sisters adored her dearly. At the age of 2 months Tyra was having weird movements and several of them daily. I called her doctor they immediately sent us to the Childrens hospital to have a EEG. I was sitting in the waiting room and the neurologist came out and pulled up a chair. She told me Tyra had infantile spasms. In November of 2007 things took a turn for the worst. Tyra has lost her ability to walk and even many days the ability to hold up her own head. She suffers from aroud 25-50 seizures each day She is unable to talk, show any emotion or even recognize her family at times. We have found a treatment that has much hope for Tyra to have a chance at life, as any person should be able to have. The treatment cost $30,000.00 dollars and is only done in the Dominican Republic.
